

A photograph of a mountain trail. In the foreground, two runners in red shirts and black shorts are running away from the camera on a dirt path. The runner on the left is wearing a white cap and a Salomon backpack. The runner on the right is using a trekking pole. In the background, a large group of runners is visible on the trail, leading up a hillside. The landscape is mountainous with green vegetation and a large snow-capped mountain peak in the distance under a clear blue sky.
